SPEAKERS OF THE DAY WERE WARMLY RECEIVED BY PEOPLE

Hon. J. K. Tener and Lawrence H. Rupp, Esq., make Splendid Addresses

AIRPLANE COUNTER ATTRACTION

It was almost 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon before the speaking advertised in connection with the homecoming celebration took place at the ball park. It was at first proposed that this feature take place at 2:30 o'clock, and this would have been done had it not been necessary to make so many changes because of the inclemency of the weather. At the time specified the interests of the people were largely centered in the airplane, who were anxiously awaiting its flight, but when it became apparent that it would be some time before the aerial exhibition would take place, Burgess Woodward suggested that the speaking take place at once. It was then after 3 o'clock, and accordingly George W. Moody's automobile which had been driven into the park a short time before, was utilized as a speakers' platform, from which both former Governor Tener and Lawrence H. Rupp, Esq., spoke to the people.

J. E. Masters, chairman of the speakers' committee, introduced Mr. Tener, who was happy to be among his old friends once more, and who after a short address of appreciation in which he spoke of the splendid work of the men who served in the great war, he introduced Mr. Rupp, the speaker of the afternoon. Mr. Rupp, who hails from Allentown, was given the closest attention by the people, and he made some telling points, in which he advocated the true spirit of Americanism and patriotism. He advised his hearers to hold on to those true principles of liberty which have been our heritage for generations, and to reject the bolshevistic tendencies which are being advocated in so many quarters. His address was timely and was punctured with many exhortations, all of which were received by his hearers with the greatest approbation. Under other circumstances the speakers would have been heard by an even larger number of people, but those who were fortunate enough to be in the audience were well repaid by the splendid sentiments which were given for their consideration.

POSTPONED SPORTS SATURDAY AFTERNOON

The sports postponed from Thursday will take place at the ball park Saturday afternoon beginning at 2:30 o'clock. After the track events the base ball game will take place, and all will be free to the public, as it is a part of the home-coming celebration program.

OVERCOME ON STREET BY NERVOUS SPELL

Joseph Brand, chairman of the badge committee, while about his duties yesteray looking after the distribution of medals to the soldiers as well as securing their military records, was overcome with a nervous spell on McKean avenue. He was taken to the office of M. T. Crowley and medical aid summoned, and later removed to his home.

KILLED BY TRAIN ON M. & W. BRANCH

Eli Tombach, aged about 35 years, who lived on a farm near Redd's Mills was instantly killed at 9 o'clock this morning while a companion who was with him at the time of the accident escaped unhurt.

Mr. Tombach was on his way from his home to Monongahela in a seven-passenger Buick car. Going down Colvin's hill he applied the brakes as he neared the foot, and where the roadway is crossed by the M. & W. branch of the Pennsylvania railroad. Owing to the wet and slippery condition of the road, however, the brakes failed to work properly and the car slid on to the railroad tracks, directly in front of a passenger train on the way from Bentleyville to Monongahela. The companion with Tombach saw the danger and jumped to safety but Tombach was unable to save himself. The train hit the car with great force hurling the machine against the hillside, completely wrecking it, at the same time striking Tombach and crushing his head. His death was instantaneous. The body was placed in the baggage car of the train and taken to the Bebout and Yohe morgue at Monongahela, where it was viewed by Coroner Heffran, who will hold an inquest later. Tombach is survived by his widow and three children.

FOUR FROM THE FAMILY

More than 60 per cent of the pupils attending our school are sent here by former graduates and friends of former graduates. In many cases they are the second, third, or fourth from the family.

What better proof could we offer you of the value of our training than the fact that many of the people who have taken the course not only advise their friends, but in many cases actually pay for the same instruction for their brothers and sisters.

DeLloyd Thompson Gives Fine Exhibition In His Airplane

DeLloyd Thompson made one of his spectacular flights from the ball park Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The aviator with his plane and mechanicians were at the park early in the day preparing his machine for flight and it was hoped to have everything in readiness by 2 o'clock or a little later. However, it was 2:30 before the first effort to start the machine was made, but the engine appeared to be balky and refused to go. Not only the regular attendants, but Lieut. Alex. Gray, who was mainly responsible for Thompson's appearance in Charleroi, worked faithfully for at least half an hour trying to get the engine going, but apparently there was something wrong, and so attempts were abandoned for a time until some changes were made. This required about an hour's time, after which the machine was set going. The aviator tried out the engine and as it worked fine final arrangements for the flight were made.

While the plane was being made ready hundreds of people had crowded about it, and it was necessary to have them moved back from in front of the machine, otherwise there might have been some one hurt. People were so anxious to see the plane make the rise that there gave but little room to make the run, but fortunately everything passed off smoothly. At 4 o'clock everything was in readiness the propeller was turned over, the engines began their revolutions and in a moment the plane was moving swiftly across the ball park. At the opening where the fence had been taken down it had raised about twenty feet and then it began to take height in an easy manner. Returning the aviator began his stunts directly over the heads of the people in the park, and he performed some thrillers. He looped the loop, and did other equally startling things with the plane which showed that he was complete master of the situation. After remaining in the air about ten minutes he made a successful landing in the field beyond the ball park. In coming down he shut off his engine and came quite close to the crowd in the ball park near the bleachers. They rushed pellmell back toward the fence as they feared the machine might light on them, but Thompson did not hit the ground until well beyond Second street. The landing was successful and the people were well satisfied with the exhibition which had been given.

K. of C. Hut Proved To Be Attractive Spot to Khaki Men

One of the outstanding features of the home-coming celebration, and one which met with instant approval and popularity on the part of the local and visiting soldiers, was the K. of C. Hut on McKean avenue, opposite Fourth street. The Hut was placed immediately alongside the pavement at that point, on railroad property, and was aranged under direction of M. T. Crowley, Grand Knight, of Charleroi Council, No. 956, K. of C., by a special committee composed of Peter Lee, A. F. Murray, J. W. Conway, Frank Cantrell, Thomas Lee, William McBride, Walter Urben and Frank Mangan.

The local Council had secured an immense supply of these articles which had proved so papular with members of the A. E. F. in France, consisting of cigarettes, candy, chewing gum and matches, all of which were distributed gratis to every man in khaki.

The Council gave away over 40,000 cigarettes, one thousand pounds of candy and chocolates and at least 40,000 boxes of matches in addition to a large amount of chewing gum. Another feature which found favor with soldiers and civilians alike was the water barrel. Thirsty travelers surrounded the barrel all day, and refreshed themselves with a clear drink of ice water. It required the constant services of several boys to keep the barrel supplied, while the ice man was called upon several times during the day to replenish the ice supply, but the local knights were determined that the hut should be the dispenser of hospitality for the entire day, and as a consequence many were refreshed, while every soldier passing the hut was the recipient of generous donations of the material things which appealed to him.

The hut was served in relays by members of the Young Ladies Sodality of St. Jerome's church, and they performed the duty assigned to them in the most pleasing manner. The young ladies who served were Anna Buchanan, Esther Connelly, Gertrude Mangan, Nell Ludwig, Winifred Guiler, Mary Shields, Mary Sloan, Gertrude Sloan, Katherine Connell, Miss Bezy, Ada Kaufle, Emma Kaufle, Irene Lauderbach, and Matilda Martinet.

A particular feature of the service was the fact that at noon time, while the soldiers were being entertained at dinner at the various churches, they were served with cigarets and candy, a remembrance which the soldiers appreciated in a very vociferous manner, in which they declared that the K. of C. was "all right."

WEATHER INTERFERED WITH HOME COMING CELEBRATION

TENTH STREET DISTRICT CENTER OF PATRIOTISM

The Tenth street section of Charleroi displayed a service flag on Thursday having sixty stars, three of which were gold. This flag indicated the number of young men that had gone out from that section at the call of their country, while the three gold stars which it bore gave evidence of the number of young men who paid the supreme sacrifice.

STREET CAR MEN CONTINUE STRIKE

By an overwhelming vote taken on Thursday the employes of the Pittsburgh Railways company decided to continue the strike. This strike has now entered upon its second week, and there appears to be but small chance of a settlement. It is said the receivers of the company will go into the United States Court to get authority to resume operations on the lines, and that other men will be secured as operatives. In the meantime officials of the national organization of electrical railway workers may come to Pittsburgh in an effort to adjust matters, that work may be resumed on the various lines. Only 63 out of over 2,500 votes cast were in favor of returning to work.

ROBERT G. LUTTON

My candidacy for the office of County Treasurer is submitted to the Republican voters of the county for their approval with an entire willingness to be guided by their decision at the polls in September.

My long experience in business matters assures the voters that I have the ability and knowledge to perform the duties of the office in a capable manner.

If nominated and elected, I pledge an efficient business administration, which will reflect credit on the Republican party, and I will have in view at all times, the best interests of the entire people.

With this assurance, I submit my candidacy for your consideration and ask your influence and support.

Much Of The Program Had To Be Postponed Because of Rain

MEN PARADED IN DOWNPOUR

The weather man failed to make good.

This, briefly, would outline conditions as they existed on Thursday, the day Charleroi had set aside as the time to officially welcome the boys who had gone from this district at the call of their country, who served so faithfully in the various departments of the army, navy and marines and who have now once more returned to peaceful pursuits.

It was no fault of the various committees that the program had to be curtailed. The committee made good every promise in the way of providing those things which had been advertised. It was no small task to do all these things, but by hard work and intensive application to the duties assigned the desired results were attained. Weather conditions looked unfavorable in the morning, although it was hoped that the leaden skies would soon be cleared and that sunshine would dispel all doubts. In this however, we were all disappointed and consequently the full enjoyment of the day was not attained.

The parade, the first feature of the program, was a little late in starting but that is not uncommon in such affairs, although Chief Marshal Hein and his staff were ready to give the order a few minutes after that hour. At 10:20 the first aerial bomb gave notice that the activities of the day were about to begin and at 10:25, when the last bomb had burst, Commander Hein gave the order to march. Almost at the same instant it began to rain. Slightly at first, but as the marching line proceded the downpour increased in its intensity, and the latter part of the route was completed in a drenching downpour. Some of the organizations left the line, but the soldier boys, of which there was a splendid representation, stuck to the job and never left the line until the march was concluded at the ball park. Of course they were soaked to the skin but looked upon the experience as trivial as compared with the hardships they were compelled to undergo while in foreign service, or while they were in the training camps at home.

Due to the weather the exercises incidental to the presentation of the flag to the Charleroi Legion were postponed, and this event will take place at some time in the future. The entertainment committee, however, provided each man in khaki with a meal ticket, and at noon time a splendid dinner was served at a number of churches, a feature of the day highly appreciated by the men.

As the grounds at the ball park were in an unfit condition, due to the heavy shower of the morning, it be-

A PRINCE OF GIVERS

If Andrew Carnegie amassed any part of his great fortune by methods that are now condemned it may be said of him that he made restitution to an extent unequaled by any other great captain of industry. For nearly twenty years before his death his chief business is known to have been the generous distribution of his accumulated millions among public uses which seemed to him most worthy. Flags hung at half mast on 22 library buildings in Philadelphia alone. He spent sixty millions on the erection and partial equipment of 2,811 libraries in this and other countries. An even larger sum was expended on the Carnegie Technical Insitute at Pittsburgh and on the Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, and he was lavish in gifts of a variety of other kinds.

It has been critically pointed out that Mr. Carnegie's name is permanently connected with all his public works and that even his "hero medal" bears his picture on one side, but his benefactions were worthy and will endure in spite of a self-made man's vanity and eagerness for applauding fame. His faith in the power of money was too great, as was shown when he was reported as proposing to "buy" the Philippines from the United States in order to present them to their inhabitants, but he was a sincere lover of freedom and democracy, and his head, heart and purse were long devoted to the attainment of the ends represented by his Peace Temple at The Hague.

THE PRESIDENT'S RAILROAD

As Alaska is federal territory and it is needful to keep a large part of its vast riches out of private hands, it seemed desirable that the building of a thousand miles of railroad therein should be a Federal enterprise and Congress so voted in February, 1914. It was supposed that the work would be under the general direction of a chosen Congressional committee, but by an overwhelming vote the House put the matter in the hands of the President, who presumably summoned the expert engineers and set them to work. Since then so much has happened and public opinion has been so absorbingly engaged in other directions that little if anything has been heard of the Alaska enterprise which was facetiously described at the time as "The President's Railroad." Now we read that favorable report on a bill providing an additional 17,000,000 for construction of the Alaskan Railroad to meet increased cost has been ordered by the House Territories Committee.

The descriptive "additional" of course implies a series of previous costs in the interval of five and one-half years. All railroads are expensive and inevitably one constructed by Uncle Sam is very expensive. For some reason the man who works for or supplies the government of his country expects larger profits than the ordinary. So we may be sure that the total cost figures for the Alaska railroad to date are very imposing. It may well be doubted whether an over-burdened President has been able to give much attention to the undertaking which was thrust upon him by a Congress disposed to shirk responsibility in even the most acute crises, but if he found it impossible to borrow or steal the necessary time he can not be blamed.

The striking actors are being sued by the theatre managers for breach of contract. Fancy employers of striking labor attempting to do the like.

Andrew Carnegie is said to have given away $350,000,000. Too bad there are not other multi-millionaires who consider it "a disgrace to die rich."

Home searchings for liquor and investigating raids upon suspected food hoarders are identical in principle, but some people who demand the one object vigorously to the other.

One reason for the high prices is the determination of vast numbers of people—after a little wartime self denial—to get the best of everything at whatever cost.

Western Samoa.

German Samoa or Western Samoa, as it is called since September 1914, when British occupation took place, comprises the islands of Savaii and Opolu with the town of Apia as the head of the political and commercial life. The islands are the remains of a semisubmerged volcanic range, heavily clothed with tropical verdure which to a great extent prohibits agriculture or farming; hence the principal industries are the planting of coconuts, cacao and rubber.

Editor's Joke.

A budding author sent a humorous paragraph to the editor of a daily paper. Not finding it printed within a reasonable time or hearing from the editorial department, he wrote to inquire about it. "I sent you a joke about ten days ago. I have heard nothing respecting its safe receipt and should be glad to hear whether you have seen it." The editor's reply was as follows: "Your joke arrived safely, but up to the present we have not seen it."

Noted Colored Woman.

Sojourner Truth was a colored woman born in New York state, probably about the middle of the eighteenth century, as she was middle aged at the time of Washington's death, in 1799. That was not her real name, but she assumed it for reasons of her own. She was a slave all her life until set free by an act of the New York legislature in 1827, abolishing slavery in that state, July 4, 1827. Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe wrote a life of her.

Antiquity of Disease.

The antiquity of disease is shown by the recent discovery of Prof. Charles D. Walcott, secretary of the Smithsonian institution, Washington. He found fossilized toxic, or poisonous bacteria, at the base of and far below the Cambrian rocks. These rocks had originally lain 36 miles below the earth's surface, but had been upheaved by some tremendous convulsion. Theirs is an age of 30,000,000 years ago.

Napoleon Who Never Reigned.

Napoleon II never reigned. When Napoleon I abdicated he also renounced the right of succession for his son, known as the king of Rome. When Napoleon III created himself emperor of the French he took the style and title of Napoleon III. in order to establish the connection between himself and his uncle, the first Napoleon.

Match Scratcher.

Save the strip of sandpaper that comes on the match boxes and tack on jamb of door with tiny Swede tacks; or strips of sandpaper may be cut five inches long and three-eighths inch wide. Place a tack at each end and one in the middle. This will not interfere with opening and closing of door, and will save steps in running back to get another match.

The Sun and Flowers.

In flowers of the common nasturtium the low sun of the early morning developed yellow coloring matter, the middle sun brought out the reds and the midday sun stimulated the violets, blues and purples, according to observations by Col. R. E. Rawson, in a report to the Royal Microscopical society.

Novel Experiences.

Did you ever chance to see a sword fish, a bottle fly, a stone fence, a cat nip, a bed spring, a mill race, corn prick up its ears or a potato wipe its eyes? Or have you ever had the novel experience of hearing a birch bark, a pillow tick, or a tree top hum? asks Gas Logic.

Ink Stains.

To remove black ink stains, the article should be washed immediately in several waters and then in milk, letting it soak in the milk for several hours; the stain will disappear. Washing the article immediately in vinegar and water, and then in soap and water, will remove all ordinary ink stains.

Biblical "Prophets."

The numerous "prophets" of the Bible were not persons who foretold the future, but in the original the word means story writer. It will be found by a short examination that this is true.

The "Seven Seas."

The phrase "seven seas" is just a general reference to the ocean. A man said to have traveled the "seven seas" is one who has been much on the waters of the globe.

Wolves!

Tempering the wind to the shorn wolf is not scriptural, not even proverbial doctrine. Let any reader make the application for himself.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Extort Sympathy.

"Some folks," said Uncle Eben, "kin act up so dat de fus' thing you knows dey begins to get a little sympathy foh bein' so mean an' unpopular."

Daily Thought.

Thought is the wind, knowledge the sail and mankind the vessel.—J. C. Hare.

As a matter of historical interest and to preserve for future generations the good intentions of the people of Charleroi, we publish in full today the program as outlined for the celebration of home-coming day in honor of returned soldiers. Of course we realize that the program had to be curtailed and changed because of the condition of the weather, but the intentions of the people were worthily expressed in the various details as prepared by the program committee.

Some day in the future a historian looking for data with reference to leading events which have transpired within the borders of the borough, will come upon this program in the files of the Mail, and no doubt it will prove very interesting to the people of that day. Many of the present generation will have passed away and many of the active participants will be no more, but their memory will be preserved in by means of this program, which is herewith printed in full:—

Orange Institution.

An Orangeman is a member of the Irish society called the Loyal Orange Institution. After the battle of Boyne, in 1690, the Irish Catholics who, on account of their Jacobite leanings, were oppressed by the English, began to form many semi-revolutionary societies. In opposition the Irish Protestants formed the Orangemen organization, the object of which was to oppose Roman Catholicism and to maintain the union of England and Ireland, and the Protestant succession to the throne. Though it derived its name from William III (of Orange), who drove out the Catholic James II, it was first definitely established in Ulster, 1795. It extended rapidly and even had some lodges in England and Canada. Parliament was compelled to check the turbulence of the organization on several occasions and from 1813 to 1823 it was suspended in Ireland. July 12, the anniversary of the battle of Boyne, is Orange day.

came necessary to postpone the athletic events and the ball game, but these will take place at 2:30 Saturday afternoon, as scheduled on the official program. The boxing show was also postponed. It was thought at first it could be staged, but a heavy rain about 4:30 convinced the management that it would be impossible to give the show and it was also postponed until Saturday evening at 8 o'clock.

The concluding number of the day's events, however, the fireworks and the community dancing, served to add a pleasing finale to the program, and sent the people home in a happy frame of mind. The character of the day was disappointing, but the community showed its good intentions toward the soldier boys, and this was the spirit which prompted the celebration.

How Man's Strength Fluctuates.

The strength of males increases rapidly from twelve to nineteen years, and more slowly and regularly up to thirty years, after which it declines. The strength of females increases at a more uniform rate from nine to nineteen years, more slowly to thirty, after which it falls off.

Something Worse.

"Remember, son, Garfield drove mules on a tow path and Lincoln split rails." "I know, dad; but, say, did any of these presidents ever crank a cold motor in a blizzard for half an hour before he discovered that he didn't have any gasoline?"—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

SINGING QUINTET WAS A FEATURE

A feature in connection with the American Steel & Wire band from Donora, which was in Charleroi on Thursday to assist in the home-coming celebration, was the vocal quintet, under direction of "Murph" Byers. The quintet is composed of Byers as leading tenor, Paul Kelch, boy soprano, Mike Kosh, baritone, George Dozick, second tenor and Harold Hornbake, basso. They gave a number of vocal selections during the day, featuring many of the topical songs in which "Blowing Bubbles," "Salvation Lassie," and "Mickey," were prominent. This quintet accompanies the band on its various trips and is always accorded a hearty welcome. Incidentally, the Steel and Wire band came in for a great deal of commendation, both for its fine music as well as the splendid appearance made by the organization.

Miss Eleanor Mogan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Mogan, has been awarded a scholarship for admission to Seton College, for general excellence in the graduating class of St. Joseph Academy. The scholarship is valued at $800.

The badge committee distributed 550 medals to soldiers of the Charleroi district on Thursday and the supply was not sufficient to go around. The committee had estimated that the number secured would be sufficient, but in this they were mistaken as the attendance was larger than anticipated.

Mrs. Rebecca J. Wilkinson.

Mrs. Rebecca J. Wilkinson, for many years a resident of Belle Vernon, died on Saturday morning, August 16, 1919, at the home of Mrs. W. B. Plowman, at Clarksburg, W. Va., where she had gone on a visit with her niece. She was the widow of John W. Wilkinson, who died about 18 years ago. She leaves two sons, Chris and Charles Johnson, and two daughters Mrs. L. M. Truxal and Mrs. G. A. Kopp. Funeral services were held Thursday at 3 p. m. from the home of L. M. Truxal in Belle Vernon, conducted by Rev. Henry Madres. Interment in Gibsonton cemetery.

CARD OF THANKS.

We desire, through the columns of the Mail to thank our neighbors and friends for their kindness and sympathy extended us during the sickness and death of our dear mother. Especially do we thank Dr. and Mrs. B. E. Gamble for kindnesses outside of his professional service and those who sent floral tributes. Also the Zanana Bible class, Rev. G. A. Allison and the choir of the Charleroi M. E. church.

Healthy Mothers
Healthy Babies
Every true mother realizes the fact that her baby's health depends upon her own, that the very vitality of her child is influenced by her own physical condition. How important it is, therefore, to guard against any derangement of the female organs, which induce general weakness, nervousness, constant fatigue and utter inability to properly care for her child. Please remember, that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has brought health and strength to thousands of such mothers.
Mitchell, Ind.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me so much during the time I was looking forward to the coming of my little one that I am recommending it to other expectant mothers. Before taking it some days I suffered with neuralgia so badly that I thought I could not live, but after taking three bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was entirely relieved of neuralgia, I had gained in strength and was able to go around and do all my housework. My baby when 7 months old weighed 19 pounds and I feel better than I have for a long time. I never had any medicine do me so much good."—Mrs. PEARL MONYHAN, Mitchell, Ind.
Good health during and after maternity is a most important factor to both mother and child, and many letters have been received by the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., telling of health restored during this trying period by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

The Supreme Test.

To retain our faith in our ideals when broken and trodden beneath men's feet in the dust, to know how to lay aside our inward sadness, to dismiss our enervating doubts and struggle on, to continue our march, sustained only by the thought of duty and an unyielding will, to make the most of life as it is given us—that is the supreme test of all great souls. That is the real victory of faith that overcometh the world.—Elwood Worcester.

Nuts and Sirup in Candy.

It is a fact of common knowledge that nuts are very high in food value, those used principally in manufacturing confectionery being almonds, filberts, pecans, peanuts and walnuts, averaging approximately 1,500 calories per pound. Corn sirup, erroneously called glucose, used largely in manufacturing gum drops, hard candies and taffies, is a pure, wholesome, transparent, heavy sirup, manufactured, as the name indicates, from corn.

Bobolink Restored to Favor.

By reason of its depredations on the rice fields, the bobolink was formerly rated the most destructive feathered creature on this continent. But the rice has moved away from the path of its migration, and on this account it has become almost harmless. Henceforward we may admire the protean bobolink without qualification, and, protected against its only important enemy, man, it will doubtless become a much more numerous species.

Peculiar Articles of Commerce.

Dried lizards are said to be an article of merchandise regularly imported into this country. They come from China, to supply a demand by Chinese residents in the United States. They are supposed to possess much medicinal virtue when ground to powder and mixed with certain other curative substances. The Chinese used dried toads for a tonic, salted scorpions for smallpox and fossil crabs as an antidote for poison.

All Called On to Show Courage.

Whatever your sex or position, life is a battle in which you are to show your pluck; and woe be to the coward! Whether passed on a bed of sickness or a tented field, it is ever the same fair play and admits no foolish distinctions. Despair and postponement are cowardice and defeat. Men were born to succeed, not to fail.—Thoreau.

Unpalatable Ship "Bread."

In grandfather's day a ship took on her supply of bread for a voyage in casks before leaving home. This supply had to last until the end of the voyage, though that might be a year or two. The bread was in the form of hard biscuit. It kept fairly well when dry, but often it got damp and moldy, or wormy.

The Kangaroo Industry.

In Australia kangaroo farming is an important industry. The hides are valuable and the tendons extremely fine; indeed, they are the best known to surgeons for sewing up wounds, and especially for holding broken bones together being much finer and tougher than catgut, which is used extensively.

"Pone."

Pone is a word of Indian derivation and an early English historian of Virginia took pains to explain that it was not from the Latin panis, meaning bread, but from the red Indian word oppone, and it was early applied in the south to any bread made of Indian corn.

Nets for Smugglers.

A curious method of preventing smuggling instituted by the Italian government is the fixing of a metallic net along the length of the Swiss frontier. The net is of five-mesh steel wire about nine feet high, and there are gateways at different points.

Little Progress Made.

My nephew on returning from school the first day was asked what he had learned. He replied: "Nothing but how to stand up and sit down, and I thought I knew that before I started to school."—Chicago Tribune.

Butter Believed Long Buried.

While cutting turf in a bog near Portadown, England, workers found a keg of butter many feet under the surface in perfect state of preservation. It is believed to have been buried for a great number of years.

Not Much, Even at That.

Willie Simson—"My, but I thought you were a great deal bigger than you are." Featherstone—"What gave you such an idea, Willie?" "Why, sister said that all you did was to take up room."—Life.

Following Directions.

Nell—"The doctor told her her life was too sedentary; that she required more excitement." Belle—"What did she do?" Nell—"Became engaged to three fellows at once."

Hens Fed by Machine.

As an aid to poultrymen a Massachusetts man has invented a machine that at regular intervals delivers water to a trough and scatters measured feed broadcast.

The Clove in Medicine.

Though the clove has had for centuries and still has an honorable standing in the culinary art as a condiment, it has long held a place in the distillation of liquor and in medicine. Nearly everybody knows something about oil of cloves, and most persons at one time or another have used it as a remedy or a palliative for toothache, it being a valuable local anaesthetic which has found use in professional dentistry as a means of lowering the sensitiveness of the dentine of a tooth undergoing repairs.

The More Spots, the More Meals.

The number of spots burned on a Chinese monk's head shows how much he has elected to endure, says a recent writer on the subject of China. They receive as severe an initiation as they desire, and get therefrom certain privileges. If a monk has three spots he can get three meals free at any monastery in China; six spots entitles him to six meals; nine spots to three days' board, and the maximum of twelve, a month's care.

The People's Might.

The feudal system, like other stupendous fabrics of past ages, is known only by the rubbish it has left behind it. Crowned heads have been compelled to submit to the restraints of law, and the people, with that intelligence which makes the voice resistless, have been able to say to the prerogative: "Thus far shalt thou come and no farther."—Daniel Webster.

Wanted Information.

While I was upstairs, our little Elizabeth called that the cat wanted to get outdoors because she had been teasing him. I replied: "I will be down in a minute and let him out, but don't tickle him in the meantime." When I got down she had been looking him all over, and said: "Daddy, where is his meantime?"—Chicago Examiner.

Rugby School.

The famous English school at Rugby to which "Tom Brown" went and at which he had so many adventures, was founded in the year 1567. Or, at least, it was in that year that one Lawrence Sheriffe of London, grocer, started a free school at Rugby, which afterward became the Rugby which we know today.

Coal.

Though wood and turf formed the fuel of our early ancestors investigations have proved that the Britons, even prior to the Roman occupation, made use of coal. But as it was possible to utilize only such coal as lay at or near the surface, the practice did not make headway for many centuries.

Pudding in History.

Pudding in its early form was made of minced meat of some sort, well seasoned and stuffed into an intestine, and then cooked by boiling. There are words in many early languages meaning pudding, but it seems originally to have come from some word meaning a short body or inflated skin.

Windmill Electricity.

Windmills are used to generate electricity in the Netherlands, where waterpower is scanty. The wind acting through the windmill drives the generator, producing the electricity, which is then stored in a storage battery and used for various purposes.

BOLSHEVIK COURSE OF STUDY

Interesting to Speculate as to Just What Would Be Appropriate University Curriculum.

The former Danish minister to Petrograd is authority for the statement that the Bolsheviki have established a special revolutionary school at Moscow under the direction of Professor Radek, the revolutionary leader, where agitators from all parts of the world are receiving instruction and fitting themselves for missionary work.

It would be interesting to receive a prospectus of Dr. Radek's university and an outline of its course of study. Presumably little attention will be paid to bomb-throwing, the handling of explosives and the like, these being purely elementary branches. One would look rather for special emphasis to be laid upon the Theory and Art of Bolshevizing and Approved Methods of Dealing With the Bourgeoisie and securing their possessions without using physical force. Advanced students might take up the problems, how to collect taxes without taking money away from anybody and the counter-revolution and how to counter it.

To Make Statues of Silver.

Charles E. Swett has discovered a preparation of silver which may be made in a plastic form like wax or clay, and also thinned down to the consistency of paint, according to the Little Journal, Cambridge, Mass. Copper, copper alloys and bronzes may be worked in the same manner. By simple technology the preparation may be reduced to the pure metal without any change in its form or shape.

A sculptor may work it in the round or in the relief, just as he does his usual materials, or in dilution it may be applied to a metallic surface with a brush. It greatly simplifies the problem of artistic work of a high order, although, of course, it is more expensive than stamped ware. Medallions and figures may thus be presented in the original without the need of casting, and such articles as silver sets may be made of which every member is original and unique. It provides a new medium for artists. The invention has been patented.

Life's Greatest Handicap.

It is a sad thing to begin life with low conceptions of it. There is no misfortune comparable to a youth without a sense of nobility. Better be born blind than not to see the glory of life.—Theodore T. Munger.

Oh, for a Samson!

This country is plentifully supplied with the jawbones of asses, but the trouble seems to be that we don't seem to have a Samson who can wield them.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Determining Day or Night's Length.

The length of the night at any time of the year may be found by multiplying by two the time of the sun's rising. Doubling the time of its setting will give the length of the day.

Pennsylvania Pioneer.
